COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Students are required to take one lower-division History of Consciousness course, preferably HISC 80, "Introduction to the History of Consciousness" (topics will vary depending on the instructor); plus five, five-credit upper-division courses, at least one of which will normally be HISC 185, "Topics in the History of Consciousness." Students may, with permission of the instructor, petition the department to substitute a five-credit graduate seminar for one of the required upper-division courses. In addition, students may petition to substitute an upper-division course offered by affiliated faculty in other departments.
